“marriage is the natural right of all people, regardless of race, sexual identity, nationality, or religious background”

Vow Renewal Ceremony

I Do... Take Two!

A couple may plan a vow renewal ceremony any time after their wedding. Most people celebrate due to a number of reasons, but ultimately it is a personal choice. What matters is that a couple is re-committing to each other.

You're at a new stage in your life and love, so it stands to reason that your vow renewal or re-affirmation ceremony should be different from your wedding day.

So whether you've just returned from eloping in Jamaica or you're about to celebrate 10, 25, or 50 years of blissful marriage, renewing your vows is a perfect way to reaffirm your commitment to each other and let the world know that you would do it all over again!

Child Blessing Ceremony

What could be more joyous than a celebration for a new life!

A baby blessing (baptism, welcoming, naming or sometimes called a glistening) is a ceremony that celebrates and welcomes your child into the family and community that they will live and grow up in. These beautiful ceremonies are an alternative to a traditional baptism and christening. They have become very popular as they help fill the spiritual needs for parents who are of different faiths, do not belong to a church or do not practice religion.

Having a baby blessing ceremony is a lovely occasion for family and friends to come together to recognize, honor and celebrate the precious gift that is your child.

All ceremonies are tailored to reflect your desires. They may reflect a new born baby, adoption or older children. I would love to create a ceremony that reflects your special family.
